

View this in your browser.

Sara's Scribbles

Sara Blake's Author Newsletter

check out my books

newsletter archive

read my blog

Happy New Year!

Not a real newsletter today. (the next one of those drops on the 16th!)

I just wanted to send everybody a very HAPPY NEW YEAR!

I don't celebrate many "mainstream" holidays, but New Year's Day is a BIG deal for me--I'm all about a fresh start! I'm off work from the day job today, so I've been working on various writing projects all day, setting my intent for the year. I did a 10 minute writing prompt, worked on the outline for the next Widdershins episode I need to write, finished the final revision of the bonus story that'll be included in the box set for The Nexus Season One, and finished getting the ebook file for said boxset put together. My to-do list also says I'm supposed to work on drafting some new words today (not counting that writing prompt,) but I don't actually have a current project in the drafting stage, so that might not happen.

And now, I guess I should get off the couch and start in on the household tasks part of the day--alas, setting my intent for the year isn't just about writing!

Happy New Year again!

Thanks for reading,

Sara

Unsubscribe | Manage subscription

9169 W State St #976 Boise ID 83714