Hey Gang!

I hope the new year is treating you well despite, well, all the things... (If you follow me on Bluesky you know I don't keep my political opinions to myself over there, but I'll spare you here--this space is for book talk!)

And speaking of books, this issue of Sara's Scribbles is a bit light on news and writerly topics, but extra heavy on free and discount books! Here we go!

The Nexus Season One: Unseen World - The Binge Box

The final episode of Unseen World came out on September 5th, so it's time for a box set! Since The Nexus is formatted much like a TV show, I've decided to lean into the concept of a season "binge" and am calling the ebook and print versions of this the Binge Box and the Binge Book.

Both versions will be available on February 6, 2026!

And yes, I said PRINT! The Nexus books may be novellas, but boy did they add up! I have a print copy of the Binge Book in my hands and it's a monster! 567 pages in an 8 1/2 x 11 trim size. It's amazing to hold, knowing I created it!

Whether you pick ebook or print, the set includes all nine episodes of Unseen World, plus a bonus short story.

If you want to give The Nexus a free peek first, episode one, Arcanum City Secrets, is FREE to subscribers of Sara's Scribbles! Click the title to grab your copy if you don't already have one! Arcanum City Secrets is really more of a longish short story, but the books get longer from there. Episode nine is approaching novel size at around 40k words.

And finally - I've made a last-minute decision to drop the price of the Binge Box for this final week of the preorder. I won't leave the discount in place after February 6th, so grab the whole season for \$7.99 while you can!

Some Extra Promos - But They're Almost Gone!!

I'm taking part in a couple of extra/different promos this month, in addition to the usual ones I drop at the end of each newsletter. This month, I have book in the monthly giveaway bundles at both Queer SciFi and Liminal Fiction!

If you've never visited either of these sites, do that as SOON as you're done here! Both sites are FABULOUS places to find new books in all speculative genres including Fantasy, Sci Fi, Paranormal Romance, and Horror. Queer Sci Fi, as the name suggests, focuses specifically on books with an LGBTQ+ element, while Liminal Fiction is a very similar site but without the queer content requirement.

If you sign up for their mailing list (and, hopefully, the lists of the authors) you'll get a bundle of FOUR free books. And here's the super cool part--that book bundle rotates every month. And once you're subscribed, you can get the new bundle, every month!

And last, Arcanum City Secrets is my book in the Queer Sci Fi bundle, but I realized after offering it that the LGBTQ+ elements in that series aren't really present yet in episode one. So I created a special edition ebook just for the bundle, that includes the first THREE episodes instead! If you're thinking about the Binge Box but want a longer sample than just episode one, this is your chance!

This is a MONTHLY promo, and I didn't have the links yet last newsletter, so this offer is going FAST! There'll be a new bundle at each site starting Feb 1st, but if you want in on the ones with my books included, head over to QSF and Liminal Fiction NOW and grab 'em!
