Hello Once Again!

How's everybody doing?

Personally, I've officially entered Overtime Hell Season at my day job, but I'm not letting it slow me down (too much!) I just finished up a Nexus short story (more about that in a little bit...) and I've been working on some format updates on a few books to make them a bit prettier.

I've also been doing a good job keeping up with the blog. I haven't been doing the extra "exclusive content" posts as often, but my regular Friday posts will continue as scheduled!

So, let's get on with the news!

I'm a Goodreads Author!

I finally got my Goodreads author profile claimed! I'm not sure what my activity on Goodreads is going to look like just yet, but I'm definitely working on developing a presence. Follow Me over there to see how it's going!

So far, I've added my profile picture and linked up my blog to feed over there. I'm also set up to receive/answer questions from readers. What else would you like to see from me on Goodreads? Let me know!!

The Nexus Is on Sale ALL MONTH!

Don't forget--all nine books of The Nexus Season One: Unseen World are 99 cents each for through December 1st!

Season Two is very definitely in the works, but each season a complete series. Season One: Unseen World is finished and ready to binge!

Read about the series on the website, or head straight to Amazon to load up!

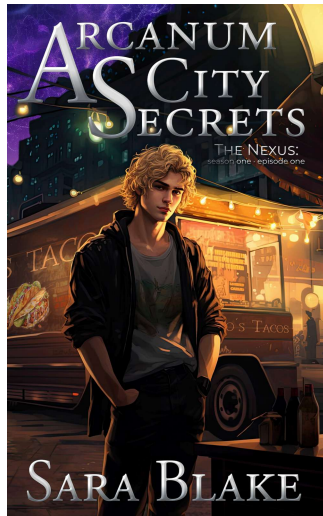

New Nexus Story - Readers Needed!

That new Nexus short story I mentioned in the intro is mostly finished, but I need some reader feedback! And I figure where best to find people who like reading my stories than in my own newsletter, so here I am!

I'm looking for people willing to read a ~10,000 word short story and answer a few questions. It's set nine years before Nexus Season One, so if you haven't read The Nexus yet, you'll should still be able to follow this just fine. I'd specifically love to find a mix of people who have and haven't read The Nexus, so I can make sure it does work for both reader sets!

If you're interested, just reply to this email and let me know--replies all go straight to my personal email address!

Speaking of the Blog...

In case you didn't know, I update my blog every Friday. Most weeks follow a sort of "theme" schedule, which helps me to keep coming up with topics to write about.

The first three Fridays of the month fall under the broad themes of Worldbuilding, The Writing Process, and Myth & Magick. The last Friday is a basic "monthly wrap-up" post, pretty similar (but not identical!) to the monthly wrap-up newsletter that goes out the same day.

This week's post, which will be going up at the same time as this newsletter mails, is about the Writing Process--specifically, where I fall in what we writers refer to as the "plotting vs. pantsing" debate. Last week was a Worldbuilding post where I shared a map of the Olive Tree Academy campus. If you're reading those books, the map offers a GREAT visual reference, plus the post goes into detail about the various features of the campus.

Check them both out on the blog! I've also been toying with the idea of setting up a "recent posts" type email subscription. It would be separate from this newsletter, so nobody would have to receive both if they don't want to. Would anybody be interested in that? Reply to this email to let me know your thoughts! :)

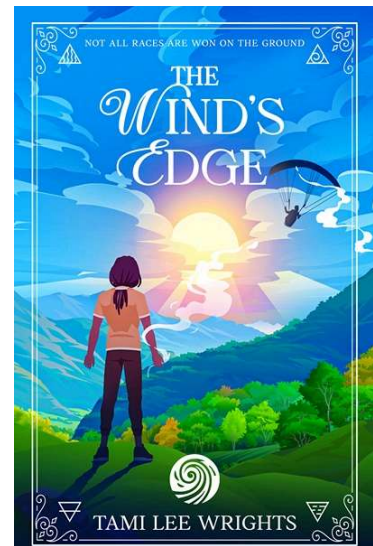

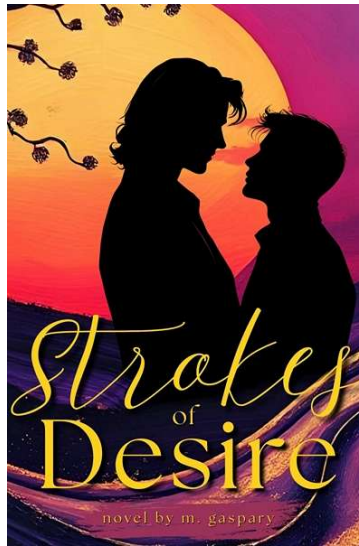

That's it for this time! See you again on November 28th, or sooner if you come say "hi" at the sarablakeauthor.com!

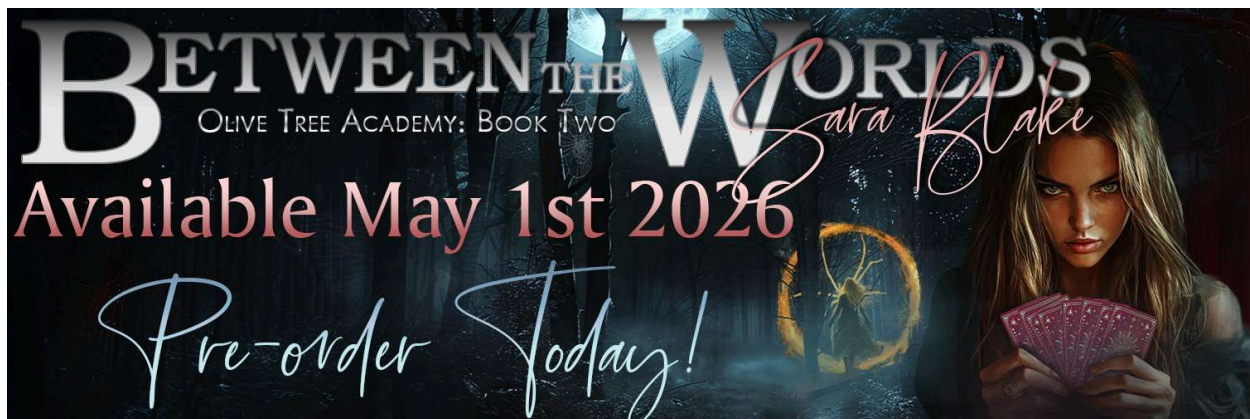

Talk soon,

- Sara

Some More Books You Might Love

A bit of everything this time around: Some are FREE, some are on SALE, and some are Kindle Unlimited. I even have a promo full of ARCs you can read for free and review (but, alas, that one doesn't have a banner to click. CLICK HERE instead!)
